ABOUT THE WRIGHTS

Peter W. D. Wright is an attorney who has represented children with disabilities for more than 20 years. Pete’s practice is devoted to helping children with special education needs. He struggled with learning disabilities, including dyslexia, dysgraphia, and ADHD. His determination to help children grew out of his own education experiences. In October 1993, Pete successfully represented Shannon Carter before the United States Supreme Court in Florence County School District v. Shannon Carter. The Supreme Court issued their unanimous decision in 34 days.

Pamela Darr Wright is a psychotherapist who has worked with children and families for more than 30 years. Her training and experience in clinical psychology and clinical social work give her a unique perspective on parent-child-school dynamics, problems and solutions. Pam sees clients in mental health care centers, family guidance and psychiatric clinics, correctional institutions, hospitals and schools.

Pete and Pam Wright provide comprehensive training programs about special education law, advocacy and related issues. Together they host a comprehensive web site:

<http://www.wrightslaw.com>

Pam is the editor of The Special Ed Advocate, the online newsletter about special education legal and advocacy issues published by Wrightslaw. They are authors of Wrightslaw: Special Education Law and their newly published book Wrightslaw: From Emotions to Advocacy – The Special Education Survival Guide.
