

Special Education Law & Advocacy Training

Pete Wright is an attorney who has represented children with disabilities for more than twenty years. In 1993, he argued and won a unanimous decision in a landmark special education case before the US Supreme Court: Florence County School District Four v. Shannon Carter, 510 US 7 (1993). He is the co-author of four books on special education law. Pete and his wife, Pam Wright, are advisors at the William and Mary Law School's Special Education Law Clinic (PELE). They are also the founders of Wrightslaw.com, the #1 ranked website about education law, special education law, and special education advocacy.
